Coding Foundations Rubric

Project Requirements - Demonstrate what you have learned about HTML and CSS by replicating this CodePen.io homepage using the screenshot below. CodePen.io is a relatively simple webpage that combines a number of things you already know, such as working with images, creating buttons, and text fields.

You can use the Visual Studio Code as your text editor. It is free, lightweight, and easy to use. Otherwise, you can use any other text editor you prefer.

Include these elements -

- Navbar that includes "Pens, Projects, Posts, Collections, and Spark with a down chevron (does not need to actually dropdown).
- Images - use available tools to recreate colors, etc.
- Don't worry about replicating any functionality features such as drop-down, scrolling, etc. Simply replicate the landing page.

Scoring criteria

- Coding runs without errors
- Includes all required elements
- Accurate representation of the CodePen homepage

Turning in the Project

After you have completed this assignment, you will need to reach out to a Mentor in the Support App so that they can verify that your assignment is correctly completed.

Student's Name James Palu

Final Grade from Rubric 90 / 100 points

Suggestions for improvement (be very detailed) Good bad ugly

Student did an excellent job on his CF Final Project. It included all items in the Navbar, Content (mid section), and footer. Only one small issue in code readability , extra classes called where not needed, make's code lengthy to read, other small issues students missed sized paragraph section's and used the wrong color for picture header and entire footer.
